Neighborhood in Focus:

Greater Ville

P I E R

Hello Greater Ville Neighborhood Resident:

As part of PIER (Prevention, Intervention, Enforcement, and Re-Entry), the City's Comprehensive Crime Plan, we are focusing efforts on 15 neighborhoods – Greater Ville Neighborhood– is one of them. The following pages contain graphics focusing on health data to help move conversations away from emotion and ground them in facts. This "Neighborhood In Focus" also highlights health needs identified in the Greater Ville Neighborhood and available resources to help meet those needs.

Crime is influenced by many factors in the community. The Center for Disease Control has identified some aspects of crime -- such as violence -- as a public health concern. This calls for a public health response.

Greater Ville Neighborhood has a lot of positive attributes that have formed its history and will help us to provide the basis for an even better future. The City of St. Louis Department of Health (DOH) hopes will be able to use this "Neighborhood In Focus" guide for your neighborhood improvement discussions.

Let us know what you think.

Sincerely,

Melba R. Moore, MS, CPHA

Acting Director / Commissioner of Health

Childhood Lead Poisoning

IN THE CITY OF ST. LOUIS

Common Exposures

Many St. Louis homes built before 1978 contain lead-based paint that is deteriorating.

Small amounts of lead dust or chipped paint can be enough to cause lead poisoning.

If done incorrectly, lead paint removal can expose the lead and cause contaminated dust to be airborne.

Health Impact

In Greater Ville, 12.9% of children that were tested showed elevated blood lead levels.

Compared with 79 City of St. Louis neighborhoods, Greater Ville ranked 18th highest for childhood lead poisoning.

THE IMPACT

Lead can be ingested, inhaled, or absorbed through the skin, causing lead poisoning.

Lead poisoning causes damage to the brain, causing learning disorders, and hearing problems.

Lead-exposed children may perform poorly in schools and tend to drop out.

A growing body of evidence in the social and medical sciences traces high crime rates to high rates of lead exposure.

Source: MDHSS, 2014

What the City of St. Louis Department of Health Can Do

We offer free blood lead level testing for your child.

We provide education on nutrition and cleaning techniques that can reduce lead exposure.

We offer free water testing for your home's plumbing.

What You Can Do

Get tested.
Talk with your child's doctor about a simple blood lead test.

Check your home.
Talk with us about testing paint and dust in your home for lead.

Remove the threat.
Discard any items in the house that may contain lead.

Renovate safely.
Use contractors certified by the EPA to prevent hazardous lead dust.
