

Neighborhood in Focus:

Wells - Goodfellow

Hello Wells-Goodfellow Neighborhood Resident:

As part of PIER (Prevention, Intervention, Enforcement, and Re-Entry), the City's Comprehensive Crime Plan, we are focusing efforts on 15 neighborhoods – Wells-Goodfellow Neighborhood– is one of them. The following pages contain graphics focusing on health data to help move conversations away from emotion and ground them in facts. This “Neighborhood In Focus” also highlights health needs identified in the Wells-Goodfellow Neighborhood and available resources to help meet those needs.

Crime is influenced by many factors in the community. The Center for Disease Control has identified some aspects of crime -- such as violence -- as a public health concern. This calls for a public health response.

Wells-Goodfellow Neighborhood has a lot of positive attributes that have formed its history and will help us to provide the basis for an even better future. The City of St. Louis Department of Health (DOH) hopes will be able to use this “Neighborhood In Focus” guide for your neighborhood improvement discussions.

Let us know what you think.

Sincerely,

Melba R. Moore, MS, CPHA
Acting Director / Commissioner of Health

THE PROBLEM

Many St. Louis homes built before 1978 contain lead-based paint that is deteriorating.

Small amounts of lead dust or chipped paint can be enough to cause lead poisoning.

If done incorrectly, lead paint removal can expose the lead and cause contaminated dust to be airborne.

THE IMPACT

Lead can be ingested, inhaled, or absorbed through the skin, causing lead poisoning.

Lead poisoning causes damage to the brain, causing learning disorders, and hearing problems.

Lead-exposed children may perform poorly in schools and tend to drop out.

A growing body of evidence in the social and medical sciences traces high crime rates to high rates of lead exposure.

What the City of St. Louis Department of Health Can Do

We provide education on nutrition and cleaning techniques that can reduce lead exposure.
