Hack4Hope is a production of An EPIPHANY Conversation, fiscally sponsored by Fractured Atlas, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization.

Are you a 7th–12th grade student in the St. Louis area interested in technology but don't know where to turn?

Hack4Hope is a unique opportunity for you to team up, start coding and design that app!

JOIN US!

WHEN: FRIDAY, JULY 10 – SUNDAY, JULY 12, 2015

WHERE: T-REX IN DOWNTOWN, ST. LOUIS

COST: FREE*

* You must be registered at www.Hack4Hope.com to participate. Parental permission and a brief essay on why you want to participate are required for acceptance of your application.

Register NOW for a weekend Hackathon that prepares underserved youth in the St. Louis Gateway area for innovative careers. Attendance during our weekend of coding means membership in our Hack4Hope Academy—a network of young entrepreneurs who learn technology to succeed.

Hack4Hope provides STEAM educational opportunities and events to help heal the social and economic divisions of St. Louis. Most of all, we'll have fun!
